The bulbs of choice old and new varieties of gladiolus offered herein are of best quality pure stock. My customers speak highly of them and their product. They are winners. Fifteen vases of my blooms competing with nearly five hundred entries at the Clarke County Floral Society show August 1-2, 1925, drew SIX AWARDS out of a total of ninety.

The gladiolus is not as widely known or grown as it should be. No other flower has such a wide range of tints, colors and color combinations. Most of them are unexcelled for cut flowers and decorative work. Others are better adapted for landscape uses.

To encourage more extensive planting my stock is offered at unusually attractive prices for the retail trade. Moreover I don't skimp on the count. Shipments will be prepaid at these prices to any address where parcels post goes in the United States, its territories, and Canada. Canadian customers must not fail to secure import permit, file it with their Collector of Customs, and advise me its number.

Plant them in liberal quantities in the spring as soon as danger of freezing is past. Cover about three inches in heavy soils, deeper in light and sandy soils. Water well about once a week and cultivate as soon as possible afterwards.

Announcement

I will have for introduction next season one of the finest new gladiolus yet produced. It is another origination of Dr. Geo. B. Pratt, who gave us BENGAL TIGER. A tall, graceful spike of amarylis-like blooms of rich Indian red, overlaid with bronze-yellow, giving a wonderful golden brown appearance. The price will be reasonable. NAMED: "SACAJAWEA". (Color: Tulip Panorama)

Unless otherwise designated bulbs are 1 1/4 inches in diameter or larger; medium sizes are about 3/4 inches in diameter.

Initials or names of originators usually appear after the names of the varieties: Kunderd (K), Diener (D), etc.
